BIO

Madi Diaz has been making records and writing songs professionally since the mid 2000s, but it wasn't until she released 2021's History Of A Feeling that she felt the glare of wider notoriety. It wasn't her debut album, but it certainly felt like it. She made her daytime and night time television debuts, embarked on her first solo tour since 2012, and supported Waxahatchee and Angel Olsen on tour, and also collaborated with them on record. Harry Styles handpicked Diaz to open for him in arenas and stadiums in North America, and was so taken by her captivating live show, he asked her to be a member of his touring band, to sing alongside him all over Europe and the UK, as well as continuing to open the show in various cities. After three months on the road touring internationally, Diaz is back in Nashville, and gearing up to release her new album, Weird Faith, perched on the precipice of her moment. Featuring Kacey Musgraves and produced by Sam Cohen and Konrad Snyder, the album feels expansive and exploratory, showcasing her growth as a songwriter and speaking earnestly about the fears that come from falling in love again.

"Coming Home"

USHER TO HEADLINE 2024 SUPER BOWL LVIII HALFTIME SHOW

Usher has changed music, culture, and countless lives. The multiple GRAMMY Award-winning diamond-selling international megastar, actor, dancer, entrepreneur, and philanthropist inspires change yet again in 2023 and beyond. Selling over 80 million records worldwide and collecting dozens of awards, he has simultaneously lit up the small screen on NBC's The Voice and the big screen in blockbusters such as Hustlers.

He has also tirelessly distinguished himself as a devout humanitarian, raising tens of millions of dollars for various causes and uplifting youth via his New Look Foundation. Since 1999 he has been providing opportunities for young people in underserved communities and enabling them to flourish and achieve seemingly impossible dreams. A true outlier, he is equally at home on the stage of his sold out My Way Las Vegas residency as he was on a 2016 government cultural mission to Cuba as part of President Barack Obama's Presidential Committee for Arts and Humanities. This album marks the creative reunion of Usher and L.A. Reid, who haven't worked together since 2004's Diamond certified Confessions. The album was mainly recorded in Atlanta, GA with many of Atlanta's hottest producers including Sean Garrett, Lil John, The Avila Brothers, Mel & Mus, Tricky Stewart, Rico Love, The-Dream, Jermaine Dupri, D Mile among many others. USHER is the 2024 Apple Music Super Bowl LVIII Halftime Show Performer.

ANY LIGHT LOVING

On their new album Any Light, Loving share a batch of songs born from moments of serendipitous inspiration: a spontaneously composed poem, a long-forgotten voice memo, an uncannily pertinent book unearthed in their studio space. In bringing those songs to life, British Columbia-based musicians Jesse Henderson and David Parry surrendered to a prolonged process of free-flowing experimentation, often dreaming up several entirely distinct iterations of a track before deciding on a final version.

Through all that unhurried exploration, Loving arrived at a body of work that invites a similar sense of charmed receptivity, even as its songs examine such complex matters as depression, existential uncertainty, and the psychic consequences of living in an increasingly digitized world. Produced by the duo and mixed, mastered, and engineered by Parry, the 10-song project encompasses a far more elaborate sound than its predecessor.

MISSY RAINES HIGHLANDER

"Raines continues to reach far beyond the confines of bluegrass with her inventiveness...Her roots remain distinctively bluegrass, while her originals and arrangements reflect her eclectic taste." —Strings Magazine

"Raines is not only a superb bassist but also an excellent singer, with a matter-of-fact, low-key delivery, that's sometimes hushed, sometimes seductive, sometimes channeling a simmering unease." —New York Music Daily

Missy Raines is a trailblazer in bluegrass. She is the most awarded bass player in the history of the International Bluegrass Music Association. On her new release HIGHLANDER, Raines gives a tip of the hat to the region of West Virginia where she grew up and developed her deep passion for bluegrass music. Working again with producer Alison Brown, she and her touring band Allegheny are joined by a thoughtfully curated list of guests including Kathy Mattea, Laurie Lewis, Dudley Connell, Michael Cleveland and Danny Paisley to create an album that at once honors Raines' deep bluegrass roots even as she cultivates them.

Stand out tracks include "Who Needs a Mine," a Raines original that reflects on the impact of the opioid crisis in West Virginia featuring fellow West Virginian Kathy Mattea, "I Would Be a Blackbird" featuring fellow female bluegrass pioneer Laurie Lewis and the album's first single "These Ole Blues" with bluegrass icon Danny Paisley sharing vocal duties with Raines.

The Steel Wheels Sideways

Street Date 2/9/2024

Highlights

- 150 tour dates in 2024
- Intial Press At Relix, BGS, Folk Alley,
- Triple A Radio Campaign for “Hero”

Virginia-based folk-rock band The Steel Wheels have spent almost twenty years writing, recording, and touring, all the while constantly honing their evolving brand of American roots music. Additionally they are the founders and hosts of the Red Wing Roots Music Festival, a beloved staple of the Shenandoah Valley. Through the years, The Steel Wheels have drawn on both traditional form and modern sounds to capture the beauty in all of life's varied trials and triumphs. Their new album, Sideways, which releases on February 9, 2024 via Big Ring Records, is a meditation on resilience and survival. Trent Wagler, the band's lead singer and primary songwriter, penned many of the songs in response to loss, and the uncertainty that comes with facing what we can't control.

Sonically, Sideways encapsulates the band's most ambitious outing to date. At their inception, The Steel Wheels played exclusively on acoustic instruments, around one mic, drawing inspiration from the mountain music and string band traditions of Virginia, where the band was formed. But 2017's Wild As We Came Here represented an evolution in the band's sound. It was then they first collaborated with producer Sam Kassirer (Lake Street Dive, Langhorne Slim, Josh Ritter), adding sonic textures and pushing the boundaries of what the band's sound could be. This same chapter also saw the addition of Kevin Garcia (drums, percussion, and keys) to the band.

For the recording of Sideways in 2022, The Steel Wheels once again tapped Kassirer to help them bring the album to life. The band holed up together at the Great North Sound Society in Parsonsfield, ME, moving into the studio for a week, cooking their meals together around a woodstove in a farmhouse, and, most importantly, playing all together again—for the first time in over two years.

The result is at-once a powerful, anthemic, at-times joyous, and contemplative reflection on our shared human experience—both tapping into the personal and reaching for something universal. And all throughout Sideways, we hear and see the image of resilience, resolve, and strength despite the trials. We are reminded that we are all still here... pushed and bent by the wind, yes, but still standing.

Chemical Miracle: Trophy Eyes' Triumphant
 Sophomore Effort

Their debut album, Mend, Move On, established Trophy Eyes as a force to be reckoned with, showcasing their ability to blend heartfelt lyrics with infectious melodies.

With their sophomore effort, Chemical Miracle, Trophy Eyes raise the bar even higher, delivering an album that is both musically and emotionally resonant. Musically, Chemical Miracle is a testament to their growth and evolution. The album seamlessly blends pop-punk energy with elements of emo, grunge, and even shoegaze, creating a soundscape that is both familiar and refreshingly innovative. The band's instrumentation is tight and dynamic, with soaring guitar riffs, driving basslines, and powerful drumming providing a solid foundation for Floreani's impassioned vocals. In a genre often saturated with clichés and uninspired songwriting, Trophy Eyes stand out as a beacon of authenticity and creativity.

Chemical Miracle is a must-listen for fans of pop-punk and anyone who has ever felt the sting of heartbreak or the uncertainty of growing up.

Over the course of 20 years, singer and guitarist Thomas Gurrath has created a whole band universe consisting of Debauchery, Blood God and Balgeroth, and he recently united this Trinity of Blood Gods under the name BLUTGOTT. Covering different musical genres, there is pounding death metal, classic heavy metal and groovy hard rock, sometimes with screeching vocals, sometimes with the distinctive monster voice, sometimes clean, and everything in between.

The lyrics - sometimes in German, sometimes in English - are about Gurrath's own dark fantasy universe, the World of Blood Gods, named after the Blood Gods, which are biomechanical vampire dragons with demonic abilities.

Each of the 10 songs is included on individual CDs for the first time in the German Balgeroth version, in the Blood God Heavy Metal version and in an alternative Debauchery version, making it a collection of Gurrath's personal favorites in a different version.

KARTEL

Maria Rita is a musical pioneer that was ahead of her time. On first hearing her song, 'Cântico Brasileiro No.3 (Kamaiurá)', we thought it sounded like a contemporary remix that an artist such as Carl Craig could have produced. In fact, it came out in 1988 and was taken from Maria's 'Brasileira' album, released on the Brazilian, independent Acorde imprint. The song would go on to gain cult status with its inclusion on John Gomez's superb 'Outro Tempo' compilation, released on the Music From Memory label in 2017.

The album fuses new-age electronics with indigenous vocals and Amazonian rhythms. It is beautiful and unique and takes you on a journey through different moods, textures and ethereal planes. Through the sounds Maria created, you join her on a timeless voyage gazing into the future whilst embracing her powerful roots.

Maria Rita Stumpf was born in the southern inland of Brazil, in the mountains of Aparados da Serra. She started writing music at the age of 14, and through participation in festivals and song contests, she developed her material and sound. A move to Rio de Janeiro in 1985 furthered her career and led to the release of the 'Brasileira' album. The record features the legendary pianist Luiz Eça, alongside the group Uakti and Ricardo Bordini.

1993 saw the release of 'Mapa das Nuvens (Map of the Clouds)' on CD via the Leblon label, but soon after, Maria would have a hiatus from the music industry, dedicating herself to her cultural and arts agency, Acorde. She left the stage and recordings behind, but quality always shines through and years after its original release, international diggers, producers and DJs rediscovered the greatness of Maria's music. This would lead to a re-issue of the 'Brasileira' LP, and later Optimo Music/Selva Discos released a 12" EP of 'Brasileira' remixes by Selvagem, Carrot Green and Joakim. Maria also spoke at the Red Bull Music Academy Festival in São Paulo, performed at both the Kino Beat Festival and the Brazilian leg of the Dutch festival, Dekmantel. Her two latest albums received critical acclaim, 'Inkiri Om' in 2020 and 'Ver Tente' in 2022. At last, Maria has got the credit and kudos she deserves, inspiring new and future generations of producers and music lovers.

Though previously re-issued, it was after a conversation with Maria that we learned that she wanted to keep this sublime record in press, and this was something that we couldn't wait to put into action. So here it is, the Mr Bongo pressing of 'Brasileira', housed in a gatefold cover.

- A record ahead of its time, Maria Rita's pioneering 1988 album 'Brasileira' fuses new-age electronics with indigenous vocals and Amazonian rhythms.
- Featuring the cult-classic, 'Cântico Brasileiro No.3 (Kamaiurá)'.

God, demons, Satan, and the classic stories of good and evil have been repeated so many times throughout the decades of heavy music. It was time for something new... With DAEMONIC, Daemon Grey marks the dawn of a new era. Beyond dark and light, beyond God and the Devil, beyond good and evil. The righteous power that connects us all... eternal, unrivaled, and true. Righteous yet merciless. Uplifting yet menacing. Divine, yet at times, furious. Unleashing the TRUE power within us all. Menacing in its delivery, provocative in its display, and undeniably memorable from start to finish, DAEMONIC marks the start of a new era in heavy music. Formidable vocals, haunting themes, honed songwriting and lyrical craftsmanship unique only to Daemon Grey, DAEMONIC serves as one of the best and most original heavy music albums in recent years. Starting with the dark epic "Beyond Good and Evil," DAEMONIC rips and winds through stories of love, pain, obsession, sex, evil, power and grit, concluding with a one-of-kind metal tribute to the originator of rock n' roll and sex rebellion. Daemon Grey, our beloved KING OF SIN, in his very finest form... refined, soul-powered, provocative, and undeniable. More wicked than the baddest, holier than the sabbath... DAEMONIC !

Mozart: Piano Sonatas Vols. 5 & 6
 K.309, 311, 330, 457 & 533/494

In this release, Orli Shaham comes to the end of her monumental survey of Mozart's complete Piano Sonatas. With this achievement, the pianist puts a double bar line on an exhilarating journey through music she has known most of her life. Shaham's affinity for Mozart is evident in each sonata, to which she applies tonal beauty, technical fluency, textural lucidity, and interpretive flair. Revered as a "thrillingly expressive" interpreter of Mozart's works, Orli Shaham brings "technical virtuosity and deftness" to performances that "connect directly with an audience".

"I expected these new recordings to be all be about using ai technology - but that was just a convenient tool, like any other. What the process actually turned out to be was a real collaboration between my present day self and me from 50 years ago - like some kind of bridge of time had been built between us. It sounds weird, I know (feel free to giggle) - where each song, whether an old recording or a new idea, was developed and transformed into something completely different from what it was to begin with, It was just as if I were working with a co writer- and quite strange at times."

For whom the bells toll in the Citadel Alunar shall encounter the Bellmaster! The particularly sinister and insidious musical and lyrical universe that Markov "M.S." Soroka is continuously creating with his various projects AUREOLE and TCHORNOBOG as well as ETERNIUM, KRUKH, and DROWN is enriched by a new chapter: The third AUREOLE full-length "Alunarian Bellmaster" differs stylistically from its direct predecessor "Aurora Borealis" (2016) in atmosphere and feeling. The album returns to the spirit of the 2014 debut "Alunar" albeit as a more advanced version with the added experience regarding production techniques and conceptual writing that Soroka has acquired over the years. Armed with a vicious sound, the album's lyrical theme is echoed in the sound of 30 bells sampled by Markov and incorporated on "Alunarian Bellmaster". The story told on this album is part of the same grimdark fantasy and science fiction based cosmos that AUREOLE and TCHORNOBOG share. The cryptic mystery revealed in AUREOLE demands to worship the Alunarian Belltower in the infinity of cosmos. "Alunarian Bellmaster" is the most definitive AUREOLE release yet!

Trio Wanderer

Schubert: Piano Trios. Nos.1 & 2

Unanimously hailed by the critics ever since their release in 2000, these recordings offer a chance to follow Schubert's development in the field of the piano trio, from the youthful Sonatensatz (1812) to the immense masterpieces of his maturity. The Sunday Times wrote, "The Wanderers take us on an exhilarating emotional rollercoaster ride, with a wonderful sense of conversational repartee in the fast outer movements and rapt expressions of wonderment in Schubert's sublime, songful slow movements."

OMAR COLEMAN

"Strange Times"

It's the core philosophy of astute curiosity that's established Omar Coleman as a rising star with iron-clad longevity in the national blues scene. Hailing from the West Side of Chicago, Coleman grew up entrenched in soul music and black music that defined the era in the mid-90s. Working as a barber by trade, Coleman recalls being bored at his shop on Michigan & Adams in Downtown Chicago and sauntering to the music shop down the street to pick up an instrument to pass the time. He landed on the harmonica thinking it would be easy to learn quickly and would fiddle around on it between cutting hair and usurping the shoeshine guy's chair when he went to shine shoes in the back. With many clients being musicians, Coleman would learn about Chicago being heralded as 'Home of the Blues' and was tipped off to legends such as Buddy Guy, Howlin' Wolf, and more. Another world opened up.

Fast forward to 2020 after tours to Brazil, Japan, and Europe and headlining shows & festival plays as both a solo artist and harmonica player (including the award-winning Sean Carney Band who won the International Blues Challenge) where Coleman found himself flying to Denver, Colorado to work on 'Strange Times,' produced by Eddie Roberts of The New Mastersounds. With Roberts at the helm as a master of analog recording techniques and capturing vintage tones, much of the composition work was done in the studio that allowed Coleman the space to expand his style into danceable, soulful groove music and craft lyrics to float over them. The result lands him in the same blues and soul revival category with artists like Charles Bradley, Sharon Jones & The Dap-Kings, Gary Clark Jr. and more.

In the immense Goblin discography, an enormous void has always been represented by the original motion picture soundtrack of 1978's Squadra Antimafia, a score which we have tried to find for many years, but that is apparently lost. So, a while ago, following the initiative of Fabio Capuzzo, veteran musicians of the prog and funky Italian scene are involved and gathered to work to a new recording session of this amazing score. Features Marcello Bonetta (keyboards), Diego Vergari (drums, percussions) Giorgio Giuseppe Tonazzo (bass), Antonio Micheli (Guitar).

Despite countless line-up changes, and more than a half century since their formation, today Guru Guru are as alive and active as ever, playing around 40 live shows every year. Far from being tired or showing signs of mellowing with age, their live shows are still experiences where the band know how to surprise their audiences. Of course, Guru Guru's classic "Elektrolurch" is still a setlist staple, performed by Mani Neumeier in a new costume. While 'Back To The Roots,' with it's rock/prog'n'roll sound, is self-explanatory, the band have added new musical elements to the song 'Guru Guru's In Da Haus,' experimenting with hiphop rhythms. The oblique 'Hold The Jelly' features the God Of Hellfire Arthur Brown as guest vocalist, with electro-dance influences. Guru Guru are still breaking boundaries, and are still very up to date, or even a bit ahead of their time. The album's opening song, "Free Krautrock!" says it all, because the band still stands for everything that experimenting with different styles has to offer.

The album reunited the iconic X-Ray Spex vocalist Poly Styrene with original X-Ray Spex saxophonist Lora Logic and bassist - Paul Dean, as well as guitar from Kula Shaker frontman Crispian Mills under his then pseudonym Red Spectre. This release has been remastered from the original master tapes. Including the original and expanded artwork, including previously unpublished lyrics and original sleeve notes from Poly. Listening to the album again after a long break, Paul Dean is surprised. "Conscious Consumer now sounds so much better than I remember. It wasn't properly released at the time and so no one knows about it. If you love Germfree Adolescents, you will love Conscious Consumer - they are linked together. X-Ray Spex didn't have just one great album, it was two!"

Vinyl LP pressing. One of the most influential bands to emerge from the UK's festival scene, Ozric Tentacles layer ambient and ethereal landscapes with freeform dub trips, incredible rave grooves and psychedelic progressive rock. It's an open exploration of music and the soul. A raggle-taggle, unpretentious assortment of punk-infused, dreadlocked hippies, since 1983 the Ozric Tentacles wove psychedelic audio-tapestries that captured the almost dangerous musical diversity of the free festival scene, blending acid rock with dub, reggae, ethnic world music and electronic, jazzy experimentation. This was the soundtrack to the herbfragranced, alternative lifestyle that wound it's way around country lanes looking for a place to set up and party, away from the psychoses of corporate life. The Hidden Step is the bands ninth studio album and was released in 2000. It was their last to include bassist Zia Ahmad Geelani (except for the track Oakum on Spirals in Hyperspace) and drummer "Rad" (Conrad Prince). It was also the first Ozric Tentacles album that does not feature a cover by the artist Blim; the cover art, by guitarist Ed Wynne, features his cat Pixel.

Over the course of 20 years, singer and guitarist Thomas Gurrath has created a whole band universe consisting of Debauchery, Blood God and Balgeroth, and he recently united this Trinity of Blood Gods under the name BLUTGOTT. Covering different musical genres, there is pounding death metal, classic heavy metal and groovy hard rock, sometimes with screeching vocals, sometimes with the distinctive monster voice, sometimes clean, and everything in between. The lyrics - sometimes in German, sometimes in English - are about Gurrath's own dark fantasy universe, the World of Blood Gods, named after the Blood Gods, which are biomechanical vampire dragons with demonic abilities. Each of the 10 songs is included on individual CDs for the first time in the German Balgeroth version, in the Blood God Heavy Metal version and in an alternative Debauchery version, making it a collection of Gurrath's personal favorites in a different version.

It's the core philosophy of astute curiosity that's established Omar Coleman as a rising star with iron-clad longevity in the national blues scene. Hailing from the West Side of Chicago, Coleman grew up entrenched in soul music and black music that defined the era in the mid-90s. Working as a barber by trade, Coleman recalls being bored at his shop on Michigan & Adams in Downtown Chicago and sauntering to the music shop down the street to pick up an instrument to pass the time. He landed on the harmonica thinking it would be easy to learn quickly and would fiddle around on it between cutting hair and usurping the shoeshine guy's chair when he went to shine shoes in the back. With many clients being musicians, Coleman would learn about Chicago being heralded as 'Home of the Blues' and was tipped off to legends such as Buddy Guy, Howlin' Wolf, and more. Another world opened up.

In fact, it came out in 1988 and was taken from Maria's 'Brasileira' album, released on the Brazilian, independent Acorde imprint. The song would go on to gain cult status with it's inclusion on John Gomez's superb 'Outro Tempo' compilation, released on the Music From Memory label in 2017. E Amiture__Mother Engine Dots Per Inch Music 680196664769 $22.98 30 Rock
Mother Engine began to take form in a dilapidated garage between a sanitation center and a set of train tracks. This would be their laboratory, workshop, and recording studio where they developed a process of working that included a newfound love for sample manipulation. They collaborated with other musicians including Matt Norman (Lily & Horn Horse) and Henry Birdsey, an experimentalist, to bring their production out of the digital landscape of Ableton. Between the tape machine, the amp, the turntable, and the computer, Amiture found magic. Each song is a part of a complex sonic matrix that reflected a vision and a sound neither one could have procured alone, always centered around Whitescarver's classically trained voice and Goupil's gritty, tripped-out-guitar sound, merged and then steeped in the traditions of American guitar music, industrial music, and folk melody. Full color sleeve, printed reverse-board with printed glossy insert sleeve & black vinyl.

D Evans, Bill / Hall, Jim__Undercurrent Jackpot Records 843563163023 $37.98 R&B
In 1962, legendary jazz pianist Bill Evans collaborated for the first time on record with jazz guitarist Jim Hall to create the landmark album Undercurrent. And even though it is a two-person improvisational affair, it is almost unfathomable that these two giants alone fill up all the grooves on this record. The thoughtful interplay between these two musicians created such a beautiful, lush, and emotional journey that their work influenced many. At the time of this recording, Bill Evans was one of the top jazz pianists (his performance with Miles Davis on Kind Of Blue is still a high-water mark), but he had stopped performing and recording after the death of his peer, bassist Scott LaFaro. Eventually, he was persuaded to return to music, and this was one of the first recordings upon his return. Guitarist Jim Hall - who had worked with Ella Fitzgerald, Sonny Rollins, and Chico Hamilton - started his partnership with Evans during this time. Recorded over two sessions in April and May 1962, the two have that beautifully unspoken musical language of give and take; their recordings are refreshingly busy but also incredibly sparse. These two giants understand that intertwining their personalities and harmonic styles could create greatness. This notable re-issue is an all-analog production affair-AAA Mastered and cut live by audio guru Kevin Gray (Miles Davis, Herbie Hancock, Charles Mingus)-and it's never sounded better. So dim the lights and let this music breathe with you; it's an incredible listen and an essential album for both the novice listener wanting to dip their toe into the genre or the audiophile who needs to replace their well-worn vinyl copy. And depending on your day, it will color your mood in any emotive shade you desire.

E	Jane Remover__Frailty	Deadair	061297792658	$39.98	225	Rock
As long as she can remember, Jane Remover has practiced her own autonomy as much as possible. The nineteen year old songwriter is an omnivorous listener that produces everything herself. She has been lauded by fans and writers alike, for accidentally creating entire genres in the wake of her prolific two-year run. Her debut album Frailty was written amidst the purgatorial summer after a high school graduation, en route to turning 18 that September. The lyrics are a wayward coming-of-age diary of an LGBT+ teenager, stuck in the suburbs of a confusing, socio-politically turbulent America. Jane's words sting, but are shrouded in meticulous production; a sui generis vein of DIY rock. Simultaneously, it's steeped in the lo-bit, nostalgic synths that soundtrack a final glimpse of younger memories. The LP was warmly received: Album of the Year List placements from Pitchfork and TheNeedleDrop, glowing reception from Paste, Insider and FADER, and a widespread resonance from a young audience.

E	Loving__Any Light (lex)	Last Gang Records	634164402570	$29.98	500	Rock
On their new album Any Light, Loving share a batch of songs born from moments of serendipitous inspiration: a spontaneously composed poem, a long-forgotten voice memo, an uncannily pertinent book unearthed in their studio space. In bringing those songs to life, British Columbia-based musicians Jesse Henderson and David Parry surrendered to a prolonged process of free-flowing experimentation, often dreaming up several entirely distinct iterations of a track before deciding on a final version. Through all that unhurried exploration, Loving arrived at a body of work that invites a similar sense of charmed receptivity, even as it's songs examine such complex matters as depression, existential uncertainty, and the psychic consequences of living in an increasingly digitized world. Produced by the duo and mixed, mastered, and engineered by Parry, the 10-song project encompasses a far more elaborate sound than it's predecessor. For fans of Whitney, Big Thief, Good Morning.
E	Mandalaband__Eye Of Wendor: Prophecies	Chrysalis	810098508148	$37.98	150	Rock
The second Mandalaband album - The Eye of Wendor: Prophecies - took two full years to create. Recorded at Strawberry Studios with the help of Barclay James Harvest plus a plethora of musician friends and colleagues with whom David had worked with over the years including Eric Stewart (10cc), Maddy Prior (Steeleye Span), Justin Hayward (Moody Blues), Graham Gouldman, Lol Creme & Kevin Godley (10cc) and Paul Young (Sad Café / Mike and the Mechanics). The narrative is based on a Tolkienesque fantasy of a magical gemstone, set in prehistory, the music and lyrics telling the tale through different vocalists playing the roles of the leading characters in the story. The Mandalaband founder carefully created this classic symphonic rock album on a budget of just £8,000. As well as presenting the original album remastered, David gained access to the original 24-track analogue master tapes, having them restored and digitised at Abbey Road Studios before reinforcing the sound and instrumentation

E	Mandalaband__Mandalaband	Chrysalis	810098508131	$37.98	150	Rock
Mandalaband began life in the early 1970's, gaining cult status as one of the most forward-thinking prog outfits of the time. The brainchild of David Rohl, who formed a lineup featuring future Sad Café members Vic Emerson (keyboards), Ashley Mulford (guitars), John Stimpson (bass guitar and backing vocals), Tony Cresswell (drums) and vocalist Dave Durant. Mandalaband received critical acclaim with legendary BBC radio presenter John Peel playing the entire album on his show before promptly re-broadcasting the whole thing immediately after. Unfortunately, at the time, this didn't translate to sales and Mandalaband fell into obscurity. However, with the advent of the internet, their legend grew, exciting a new generation of prog fans. We are now pleased to make these recordings available again and offer a chance to dig into some of the most interesting progressive music of the '70s. As well as presenting the original album remastered, David gained access to the original 24-track analogue

E	Rita,Maria__Brasileira	Mr Bongo	7119691292410	$30.98	100	Int'l & World Music
Maria Rita is a musical pioneer that was ahead of her time. On first hearing her song, 'Cântico Brasileiro No.3 (Kamaiurá)', we thought it sounded like a contemporary remix that an artist such as Carl Craig could have produced. In fact, it came out in 1988 and was taken from Maria's 'Brasileira' album, released on the Brazilian, independent Acorde imprint. The song would go on to gain cult status with it's inclusion on John Gomez's superb 'Outro Tempo' compilation, released on the Music From Memory label in 2017. This cult classic fuses new-age electronics with indigenous vocals and Amazonian rhythms. It is beautiful and unique and takes you on a journey through different moods, textures and ethereal planes. E	Trophy Eyes__Chemical Miracle - Pink	Hopeless Records	790692702015	$24.98	390	Rock
Chemical Miracle, Trophy Eyes's sophomore album delivers an album that is both musically and emotionally resonant. Musically, Chemical Miracle is a testament to their growth and evolution. The album seamlessly blends pop-punk energy with elements of emo, grunge, and even shoegaze, creating a soundscape that is both familiar and refreshingly innovative. The band's instrumentation is tight and dynamic, with soaring guitar riffs, driving basslines, and powerful drumming providing a solid foundation for Floreani's impassioned vocals. In a genre often saturated with clichés and uninspired songwriting, Trophy Eyes stand out as a beacon of authenticity and creativity. Chemical Miracle is a must-listen for fans of pop-punk and anyone who has ever felt the sting of heartbreak or the uncertainty of growing up.

E Tzusing__Green Hat Pan 756029612860 $23.98 30 Electronic
On Tzusing's sophomore album the Malaysian-born artist, who lives between Shanghai and Taipei, meditates on China's complicated history of patriarchal heteronormativity, and how these archaic double standards continue to dominate the culture in pervasive, often invisible ways. Even in progressive circles, internalized male inadequacy and it's inevitable projection of possessiveness and aggression has been brushed underneath the rug, so by addressing it head-on, Tzusing attempts to question these structures using a level of aesthetic anxiety and thematic intensity that's hard to ignore.

Back With An Epic Album Of Eight New Remarkable Tracks, The Pineapple Thief Present It Leads To This. Deluxe 4 Disc, 52 Page Book Edition - 2CD, Blu-ray & DVD Featuring Bonus Album Plus Hi Resolution Dolby Atmos & 5.1 Surround Sound Audio. Recorded September 2020 to July 2023, the record took shape slowly but surely as the band meticulously perfected their sound. Often guarded, It Leads To This keeps it's ace in the pack up it's sleeve, biding it's time until all the right pieces fall in place, giving way to a beautiful, cinematic experience on every track. Conceptually, the record is Soord's efforts to better understand himself and the world around him. Opening with the coy melodies of 'Put it Right' before moving into the metallic groove of 'rubicon', the album builds to the heart of the record with the epic title track, the cathartic 'the Frost', followed by an introspective 'All That's Left'. The ominous 'Now it's Yours' and 'Every Trace of Us' keep the foreboding atmosphere topped up whilst delivering The Pineapple Thief's signature dynamism, closing the record with the haunting 'to Forget'. One of the leading lights in Europe's experimental rock domain, The Pineapple Thief were formed in 1999 by founder and chief songwriter Bruce Soord. It Leads to This is their 14th studio album. The line-up has remained solid since 2016's game-changing Your Wilderness: Bruce Soord (guitar/vocals), Jon Sykes (bass/backing vocals), Gavin Harrison (drums/percussion) and Steve Kitch (keyboards). Your Wilderness made the UK Album Chart Top 75 with 2018 follow-up Dissolution peaking at #36, alongside #1 UK Rock and Metal, #22 German album chart and #4 Netherlands Platomania album chart.
